

The JOY of the LORD is
[my] STRENGTH!
Neh. 8:10

My name is LANNA WEBB, and I am so excited to begin my first year as an Angleton Christian School Warrior. I grew up here in Angleton. I attend Remnant Church in Clute, Texas, and I so love spending time on Sunday mornings with my church family learning and praising the LORD.

I'm a Wildcat, Class of '90 and a Rice University graduate with majors in English and History. I have a Masters of Educational Leadership from LeTourneau University. I've taught in public school at AHS and at Brazosport Christian School, where I also served for a time as the secondary principal. I have experience teaching English, History, Drama, Speech, and Bible.

I am more-than-happily married to my husband of over 25 years, Russell, who serves as the IT Director for Brazoria County. Russell is also from Angleton and has worked in the area for 25 years. He is an amazing man with a heart for helping others and loyalty beyond what I have ever seen.

My children, Lane and Zoe, bring me an exceeding amount of joy. They went to Christian school for their entire schooling years (minus one year of homeschool kindergarten neither me nor my son wish to discuss). Lane, 20, lives in San Marcos and is pursuing a degree in Criminal Justice. Zoe, 17, is in her senior year at BCS.

Past hobbies have included fiddle playing and car racing, but these days I am sticking with two of my first loves, writing and reading. My favorite author is Tamera Alexander, who writes Christian Historical Romances. I enjoy reading this genre so much I decided to try my hand at writing one and spent the summer publishing my first novel. My deepest passion, however, is teaching. I love to watch the ah-ha moment when a student suddenly understands an idea we've been studying, and I so enjoy looking back with my kiddos at their progress over the 9 weeks, semester, year, etc. What a fulfilling life!

I am past happy God has brought me to this place he has for me. I cannot wait to get to know everyone here at ACS and look forward to this next adventure.
